WEATHER KEY POINTS

10/01/21 - 10/07/21

Friday-Thursday

- Gusty winds of 40-50 mph over the southern California mountains of Ventura and Los Angeles counties will bring more periods of elevated to briefly critical fire weather conditions through Friday
- Otherwise, mainly light winds and gradually warming temperatures are expected through the weekend and early next week
- Additional moisture could move into the state early-to-middle portions of next week, potentially leading to a chance of showers and thunderstorms, especially across southern California and the Sierra.
